Barnum and Jumbo.

The advent of Barnum's great show, which this year comes here May I and I, he always the galatine for all the little folks and for a host of "children of a larger" growth. "Brunswick," the charming New York correspondent of the Beston Gazette has been to harmin's, and he writes of it as

nees man-of-war with a rodder. The giralise in the next peu can just see his back by stretching their necks out of joint, and the other elephants in the circus could not see his middle if their eyes were not so near the top of their heads. Notwithstanding his immense size, Jumbe does not impress you as a fremendens creature, for he seems so thin and miserable. A thin elephant is an unpleasant sight. His somes do not protrude, but his caurse hide hangs in loose layers down this sides, and his little beady eyes have a fortern expression, as though he would answer Mr. Mallock's question. "Is life worth living?" In the negative. Like other invalled, Jumbo has a line appetite. There is mothing he refuses, from a fen of hay to a peanut. At his American defent he was initiated in the mysteries of the savery peanut. He laid his long and snake-like truck on the railing of his pen, and a lany dropped the into the yawning cavern called his mouth. A man could disappear in that immense hole as readily as a peanut. Jumbo is not a temperance elephant. He makes nothing of washing a peanut down with a bother of whiskey. Perhaps when he hears Mr. Barinam lecture he will sign the pledge. Lager beer is another of Jumbo's weaknesses, and he can much his dozen bettles at a sitting. A thiough he was acasted on the voyage-weer, he was not long in recovering his appetite. His daily allowance of food was two hundred pounds of hay, two bashels of cais, one lather of blacuts, ten or fifteen large leaves of bread, two or three quarts of notons, four buckets of water, and apples, oranges, and other sweets all libitum. I am not surprised that Jumbo each of shert, which adds to the grotesquenoss of his appearance. Brother Clifford P. MacCalla, editor of the Keystons, Past Master of Concordia Lodge No. 47, also a member of Mary Commandery No. 36, of Philadelphia, has, with his wife and daughter, been doing the city for the past week. Brother MacCalla viaited Penialphia Lodge No. 21 Monday evening and witnessed the work in the Fellow traits Degree, upon the conclusion of which he expressed his appreciation of the smooth and beautiful manner in which the degree was conferred. Brother Mac, leaves for his Quaker City home to-morrow. The regular conclave of Columbia Cor

The regular conclave of Columbia Com-brandery No. 2, last Friday evening, was crowded with interesting events. Sir John B. Thompson, P.E. C., cling for the Commandery, presented from William I. Browne with a Past Eminent Commander's sword; it M. M. Parker, P. E. C., presented to Sir S. P. lounds, of Apollo Commandery, of Chicago, a certifi-ate of mumbership voted by the Commandery, and a limitar certificate was presented through Sir Matthew (timble to Gen. David G. Swaim, Judge Advocate cineral. The presentation addresses were models of degant diction, and the responses brist and to the solut.

As the anctioneer says, "This is the last call" in behalf of our Masonic St. John's Mite Association, which dispenses its charity to the needy and distressed without regard to Lodge boundaries. Their animal benefit will take place this year at Lincoin Half on the seenings of next Erislay and Saturday, with a Saturday afterneon mattnes. Friday evening and mattness the Eristrates of Penance' will be given, and Saturday evening the ever popular "H. M. S. Pinafore." The cast embraces the names of Mr. Hernston Morzell, Miss Ex Mills, Mr. E. P. Paoley, Mrs. E. R. Tune, Miss Mollis flyrne, Mrs. E. R. Paoley, Mrs. E. R. Vine, Mrs. E. R. The American Art Journal, of New York, April 15, says: The communication of St. Cecile Ledge No. 563, held on the 4th instant, may be called a golden day in the annals of this Lodge. The M. M. Degree was conferred on three Fellow Crafts, During the second section of the Degree the East was occupied by R. W. Frederick Widdows, the first Master and founder of the Ledge, now of Jerusalem Lodge No. 9, Washington, D. C., and it brought back sweet memories of the early days of the Lodge to the adder members to see him in that station. There was also present a delegation from New Jerusalem Lodge No. 9, Washington, D. C., constating of W. E. Dennesson, W. M.; Harrison Dingman, J. W., and Brother H. C. Bowers, who presented to St. Cecile Lodge a beautifully engressed set of resolutions from New Jerusalem Lodge, in testimony of the fraternal feeling existing between the Lodges, and in acknowledgment of their appreciation of the act of St. Cecile in constituting R. W. Brother Widdows an bomerary member of the Lodge, During refreshment Brother George W. Morgan, the eminent musician, played one of bis excellent plano solos, Brothers H. Schwiecardi and W. H. Roe, sang several beautiful yocal selections; Brother Alen Latham recited "Rubenstein at the Plano," and Brothers Hunt, Davis, Schilig, Mint, Co-Relliy, and Link plaxed a sextette for brass hearuments, which was highly applanded. A perfect galaxy of Masonic Entinences were present to honor the occasion, several of the Grand Officers, Worthy Masters of sister Lodges, and a large percentage of the members of St. Cecile Lodge. We understand the committee of No. 2 were well taken care of.

Military Rifle Matches. As previously announced, the Benning As previously aunounced, the Henning's lange was opened for the season with a military ribe subscription match vesterialy afternoon, which brought out good attendance and some most excellent chooting, after a rest of nearly elx months on the part of the men. The terms of this match were "any military ribe underthe, rules; distance 200 yards; position standing, off hand; seven shots allowed each contestant; 25 cents entrance; one-half of the entrance money to the contestant making the best sever, and one-fourth to the second best shot, the outnotes of the range; unfinited resurtles." There were fifteen contestants, and forty-three cuttles and tentries. "Following and forty-three cuttles and tentries." and forty-three entries and reentries. Following secrets:

Cash (Walter), Burnshle Cash (W, L.), Mr. Lauritzen took the first prize, and Capt. Mil-ler's 32 being better under the rules than Mr. Watter Cash's he was awarded second prize. While resting during the cff-hand short-range match an im-promptu mid-range subscription match was gotten up for 500 yards, with five contestants. The firing at this distance was done in the front position, with

This was the first 500-yards match ever shot at hennings's with military rifes, and was the first shooting ever done at this distance by all of the contestants excepting Mr. Lacritizm.

The Columbia Riffe Association has recently been reorganized, and the entrance fee reduced from $10 to $1, and the monthly dues from $2 to 50 cents, for the purpose of encouraging the military riflemen of the District to join and perfect themselves in shooting at all distances, from 200 to 1,000 yards.

A meeting will be held next week to prepare a spring and summer programms of shooting.
